

Seminar on “Life and Livelihood: Women of Assam at present - Opportunities and Challenges” on 14th September 2009

Report: A seminar was organised under the banner of D.K. College Women’s Cell on the topic “Life and Livelihood: Women of Assam at present - Opportunities and Challenges” on 14th September 2009 in the auditorium. The lecture was delivered by Dr Archana Sharma, HOD, Department of Economics, Gauhati University and also the Director of Women's Studies and Research Centre. The talk was largely attended by the students, teachers, retired teachers and guests of the locality. She talked on the challenges faced by women in their day to day life regarding various livelihood issues. She also spoke at length on opportunities available to women and also the obstacles faced by women under the impact of globalisation.